Great funny quotes : sweeten your life with laughter / [compiled by] David Young. –1st ed.

Introduction

“We don’t laugh because we’re happy – we’re happy because we laugh,” according to philosopher and psychologist William James. Great Funny Quotes gives you 2,335 reasons to laugh and be happy. Stressed at work? Burnt out from taking care of the kids? Overwhelmed by family, financial or health problems? Regardless of your situation, this hilarious book will give you an instant vacation, a chance to relax, renew your spirit and gain a fresh perspective – so vital to overcoming life’s toughest challenges. Or maybe you’ve lost your joy. If so, this book can help you too. As Josh Billings said, “Laughter is the fireworks of the soul.” So relax and enjoy Great Funny Quotes, and sweeten your life with laughter.

Accidents

The Lord Chief Justice of England recently said that the greatest part of his judicial time was spent investigating collisions between propelled vehicles, each on its own side of the road, each sounding its horn and each stationary.

— Philip Guedalla

Accordions

Accordion: A bagpipe with pleats.

— Anonymous

Accountants

An accountant is someone who solves a problem you didn't know you had in a way you don't understand.

— Anonymous

The old accountant retired after fifty years, and in the top drawer of his desk they found a note that said: "Debits in the column toward the file cabinet. Credits in the column toward the window."

— Anonymous

I once had an accountant who was so good with numbers he eventually got to wear one for ten to fifteen years.

— Gene Perret

Actions

Actions speak louder than words – but not so often.

— Anonymous

Actors

An actor's success has the life expectancy of a small boy about to look into a gas tank with a lighted match.

— Fred Allen

Acting is pretending, and the most difficult part is pretending you're eating regularly.

— Anonymous

There are five stages in the life of an actor: Who's Mary Astor? Get me Mary Astor. Get me a Mary Astor type. Get me a young Mary Astor. Who's Mary Astor?

— Mary Astor

She goes, "I'm an actress." I go, "Sure, which restaurant?"

— Sarah Bernhard

The most important thing in acting is honesty. If you can fake that, you've got it made.

— George Burns

My career must be slipping. This is the first time I've been available to pick up an award.

— Michael Caine

The last time I acted my name was so low on the program that I was getting orders for the printing.

— Frank Carson

I had one guy at a gas station in New York say to me, "Hey, you look like that Hugh Grant. No offense."

— Hugh Grant

The only great acting we see nowadays is from the losing nominees on Oscar Night.

— Will Rogers

Admiration

Admiration: Our polite recognition of another's resemblance to ourselves.

— Ambrose Bierce

Adolescence

Adolescence is the time in life when a youngster is well informed about anything he doesn't have to study.

— Anonymous

Adolescence begins when children stop asking questions – because they know all the answers.

— Evan Esar

Adolescence is that period in a kid's life when parents become more difficult.

— Ryan O'Neal

Adolescence is perhaps nature's way of preparing parents to welcome the empty nest.

— Karen Savage and Patricia Adams

A normal adolescent isn't a normal adolescent if he acts normal.

— Judith Viorst

Adults

Adult: A person who has stopped growing at both ends and started growing in the middle.

— Anonymous

Advancement

Yesterday I was a dog. Today I'm a dog. Tomorrow I'll probably still be a dog. Sigh! There's so little hope for advancement.

— Snoopy

Adversity

Never position a rock near a hard place.

— Rohan Candappa

I understand life isn't fair, but why couldn't it just once be unfair in my favor?

— Christy Murphy

We all have strength enough to endure the misfortune of others.

— François de La Rochefoucauld

There are those who imagine that the unlucky accidents of life – life’s experiences – are in some way useful to us. I wish I could find out how. I never knew one of them to happen twice.

— Mark Twain

Advertisements

Whenever you hear the word save, it is usually the beginning of an advertisement designed to make you spend money.

— Anonymous

Advice

We hate to have some people give us advice because we know how badly they need it themselves.

— Anonymous

Among the many remedies that won’t cure a cold, the most common is advice.

— Anonymous

The best time to give advice to your children is while they’re still young enough to believe you know what you’re talking about.

— Anonymous

Don’t be discouraged if your children reject your advice. Years later they will offer it to their offspring.

— Anonymous

When a man comes to me for advice, I find out the kind of advice he wants, and give it to him.

— Josh Billings

When your mother asks, “Do you want a piece of advice?” it’s a mere formality. It doesn’t matter if you answer yes or no. You’re going to get it anyway.

— Erma Bombeck

Whenever a man seeks your advice he generally seeks your praise.

— Lord Chesterfield

We always admire the intelligence of those who ask us for advice.
— Ramsey Clark

No vice is so bad as advice.
— Marie Dressler

When we ask advice we are usually looking for an accomplice.
— Charles de La Grange

I intended to give you some advice but now I remember how much is left over from last year unused.
— George Harris

If you want to get rid of somebody, just tell him something for his own good.
— Kin Hubbard

The trouble with giving advice is that people want to repay you.
— Franklin Jones

Advice is what we ask for when we already know the answer but wish we didn't.
— Erica Jong

You will always find some Eskimo ready to instruct the Congolese on how to cope with heatwaves.
— Stanislaw Lec

Like so many contemporary philosophers, he especially enjoyed giving helpful advice to people who were happier than he was.
— Tom Lehrer

For sincere advice and the correct time, call any number at random at 3:00 a.m.
— Steve Martin

The one prediction that never comes true is, "You'll thank me for telling you this."
— Judith Martin "Miss Manners"

Many years ago a wise man took me aside. “Harpo, my boy,” he said, “I’m going to give you three pieces of advice, three things you should always remember.” My heart jumped and I glowed with excitement. I was going to hear the magic password to a rich, full life from the master himself. “Yes, sir.” I said. And he told me the three things. I regret I’ve forgotten what they were.

— Harpo Marx

I give myself sometimes admirable advice, but I am incapable of taking it.

— Lady Mary Montagu

No matter what, Dad was always there with solid words of advice . . . “Go ask your mother.”

— Alan Ray

If you want people to notice your faults, start giving advice.

— Kelly Stephens

I always advise people never to give advice.

— P.G. Wodehouse

Aerobics

Eternity is the second ten minutes of aerobics.

— Anonymous

The word aerobics comes from two Greek words: aero, meaning “ability to,” and bics, meaning “withstand tremendous boredom.”

— Dave Barry

The word aerobics came about when the gym instructors got together and said, “If we’re going to charge ten dollars an hour, we can’t call it Jumping Up and Down.”

— Rita Rudner

Age

Warning: Dates on calendar are closer than they appear.

— Anonymous

It's hard to know just where one generation ends and the next one begins, but it's somewhere around 9:00 p.m.

— Anonymous

Aging: Eventually you will reach a point when you stop lying about your age and start bragging about it.

— Anonymous

Memory expert: A woman who has once been told another woman's right age.

— Anonymous

You leave concerts and ball games early to beat the crowd.

— Anonymous, You're not a kid anymore when . . .

A clever wife doesn't lie about her age: she just says she's as old as her husband, and then lies about his age.

— Anonymous

The best way to cure your wife of anything is to tell her it's caused by advancing age.

— Anonymous

When you are dissatisfied and would like to go back to your youth, think of algebra.

— Anonymous

Time may be a great healer, but it's a lousy beautician.

— Anonymous

When we're young, we want to change the world. When we're old, we want to change the young.

— Anonymous

People call you at 8:00 p.m. and ask: "Did I wake you?"

— Anonymous, You're not a kid anymore when . . .

I'm only fourteen.

— Nadia Comaneci, when asked after winning the gold medal if she was going to retire

Wrinkles are hereditary. Parents get them from their children.

— Doris Day

The years that a woman subtracts from her age are not lost. They are added to the ages of other women.

— Diane de Poitiers

The older you get, you're just too tired to care about the same things. Rock concerts, I used to camp out for tickets. Now you could tell me Barbara Streisand is playing for free down the street, and I'd say, "How far down the street? Let's just stay here and watch the Discovery Channel. C'mon, it's Shark Week!"

— Kathleen Madigan

A woman telling her true age is like a buyer confiding his final price to an Armenian rug dealer.

— Mignon McLaughlin

If you're less than ten years old you're so excited about aging you think in fractions. "How old are you?" "Six and a half!" You're never 36 and a half. Then a strange thing happens. If you make it over 100 you become a kid again. "I'm 104. And a half!"

— Larry Miller

Ask any woman her age, and nine times out of ten she'll guess wrong.

— Bob Murphy

You're seriously concerned when you're a kid that you might not be able to take the excitement of being an adult, of driving around and people calling on the phone and getting mail addressed directly to you. Now, it's like: "You drive; tell 'em I'm not here; and I can't believe all this junk mail!"

— Jerry Seinfeld

There are only two things a child will share willingly – communicable diseases and his mother’s age.

— Dr. Benjamin Spock

As long as a woman can look ten years younger than her own daughter she is perfectly satisfied.

— Oscar Wilde

The old believe everything, the middle-aged suspect everything, and the young know everything.

— Oscar Wilde

It’s hard to keep up with the younger people coming up.

— Kim Zmeskal, sixteen-year-old gymnast

Age, Middle

Middle age: When a woman’s hair starts turning from gray to black.

— Anonymous

I would feel a lot more middle-aged if I knew more ninety-year-olds.

— Anonymous, on turning 45

Don’t worry about middle age; you’ll outgrow it.

— Anonymous

Did you ever notice: The Roman Numerals for forty are XL.

— Anonymous

One of the chief pleasures of middle age is looking back at the people you didn’t marry.

— Anonymous

Middle age is when your classmates are so gray and wrinkled and bald they don’t recognize you.

— Bennett Cerf

Just after my thirtieth birthday, instead of growing hair on my head, I now was growing it in places where I didn’t need it, like the top of my ear.

A strand had sprouted there overnight and made me look like something out of The Cat in the Hat.

— Bill Cosby

I recently turned fifty, which is young for a tree, midlife for an elephant, and ancient for a quarter-miler, whose son now says, “Dad, I just can’t run the quarter with you anymore unless I bring something to read.”

— Bill Cosby

Middle age is when your broad mind and narrow waist begin to change places.

— E. Joseph Cossman

Ladies don’t have a Senior Tour. They won’t admit when they turn fifty.

— Deisy Flood

You know you’re fifty if it takes three tries to call your kids by correct names.

— Bill Geist

At a cheerful lunch with old friends, questions arise: “When was that, that we went to that great place, you know the place, with those guys, you know who I mean, what’s his name and what’s her face? Oh, where was that? I can’t remember why on earth we went there, but it was fun. Wasn’t it?”

— Bill Geist, on turning fifty

A woman can tell she’s fifty if she can periodically defrost a Hungry-Man Double Entrée TV dinner with her bare hands.

— Bill Geist

Middle age is when your age starts to show around your middle.

— Bob Hope

I have everything now I had twenty years ago, except now it’s all lower.

— Gypse Rose Lee

Middle age is when you stop criticizing the older generation and start criticizing the younger one.

— Laurence Peter

When you are about 35 years old, something terrible always happens to music.

— Steve Race

I can define middle-aged. That's when you're faced with two temptations and you choose the one that'll get you home at nine o'clock.

— Ronald Reagan

Age, Old

Remember when we used to laugh at old people when we were young? Do you recall what was so funny?

— Anonymous

Seen it all, done it all, can't remember most of it.

— Anonymous

To me old age is always fifteen years older than I am.

— Bernard Baruch

If I'd known I was gonna live this long, I'd have taken better care of myself.

— Eubie Blake, on his hundredth birthday

What's nice about the Senior Tour is you can't remember your bad shots.

— Bob Bruce

By the time you're eighty years old you've learned everything. You only have to remember it.

— George Burns

I was brought up to respect my elders and now I don't have to respect anybody.

— George Burns, at age 87

You know you're getting old when you stoop to tie your shoes and wonder what else you can do while you're down there.

— George Burns

I was introduced to a beautiful young lady as a man in his nineties. Early nineties, I insisted.

— George Burns

Don't worry about senility – when it hits you, you won't know it.

— Bill Cosby

I don't know how you feel about old age, but in my case I didn't even see it coming. It hit me from the rear.

— Phyllis Diller

I'm at the age when my back goes out more than I do.

— Phyllis Diller

Eighty is a wonderful age – especially if you're ninety.

— Abel Green

An elderly woman in a nursing home declined her pastor's suggestion that she get a hearing aid. "At 91, I've heard enough," she said.

— Catherine Hall

In youth we want to change the world. In old age we want to change youth.

— Garth Henrichs

Oh to be seventy again.

— Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr., on seeing an attractive woman on his ninetieth birthday

Forty is the old age of youth; fifty is the youth of old age.

— Victor Hugo

Children are a great comfort in your old age – and they help you reach it faster too.

— Richard Kauffmann

"Oh to be old again," said a young corpse.

— Stanislaw Lec

You know you're getting old when you start watching golf on TV and enjoy it.

— Larry Miller

I'm now old enough to personally identify every object in antique stores.

— Anita Milner

I'm at the age where I have to find my hearing aid to ask where my glasses are.

— Robert Orben

You know you're getting old when all the names in your black book have M.D. after them.

— Arnold Palmer

Old age is when you know all the answers, but nobody asks you the questions.

— Laurence Peter

People tell me, "Gee, you look good." There are three ages of man: youth, middle age and "Gee, you look good."

— Red Skelton

When you get old, everything is hurting. When I get up in the morning, it sounds like I'm making popcorn.

— Lawrence Taylor

I knew I was getting old when the Pope started looking young.

— Billy Wilder

Alarm Clocks

Alarm clock: An instrument used to wake up people who have no kids.

— Anonymous

Alaska

In Alaska, we have just two seasons – this winter and next winter.

— Leigh Wade

Alliances

Alliance: In international politics, the union of two thieves who have their hands so deeply inserted in each other's pocket that they cannot separately plunder a third.

— Ambrose Bierce

Allowances

One of the first things a child learns at school is that some other child is getting a bigger allowance.

— Anonymous

Another thing a small boy is constantly outgrowing is his allowance.

— Anonymous

Anger

Angry wife to husband: "You are being deliberately calm."

— Anonymous

I don't enjoy playing video golf because there's nothing to throw.

— Paul Azinger

I was always more of a breaker than a thrower – mostly putters. I broke so many of those, I probably became the world's foremost authority on how to putt without a putter.

— Tommy Bolt

Righteous indignation: Your own wrath as opposed to the shocking bad temper of others.

— Elbert Hubbard

The most exquisitely satisfying act in the world of golf is that of throwing a club. The full backswing, the delayed wrist action, the flowing follow-through, followed by that unique whirring sound, reminiscent only of a passing flock of starlings, are without parallel in sport.

— Henry Longhurst

You missed your calling. You should have been an usher.

— Sandy Mayer, to John McEnroe after he told a fan to shut up and sit down

Why am I using a new putter? Because the old one didn't float too well.
— Craig Stadler

Anniversaries

Wedding anniversary: Easy for a golfer to remember. "How could I forget? It's June fifteenth – on that day in 1953 I missed a two-inch putt on the fifteenthth hole."

— Martin Ragaway

Antiques

Antique: An object which has made a round trip to the attic.

— Anonymous

Antique: Something nobody liked well enough to wear it out.

— Anonymous

If you don't know what you want, we have it.

— Sign in antique shop

If something's old and you're trying to sell it, it's obsolete; if you're trying to buy it, it's a collector's item.

— Frank Ross

Apologies

It takes real talent to be able to apologize in a manner that makes the offended person feel guilty.

— Anonymous

Appearance

I refuse to think of them as chin hairs. I think of them as stray eyebrows.

— Janette Barber

If you're a man, at some point a woman will ask you how she looks. "How do I look?" she'll ask. You must be careful how you answer this question. The best technique is to form an honest yet sensitive opinion, then collapse on the floor with some kind of fatal seizure. Trust me, this is the easiest way out. Because you will never come up with the right answer.

— Dave Barry

Thanks. You don't look so hot yourself.

— Yogi Berra, to Mayor John Lindsay's wife after she said he looked cool in his suit

Did you ever look in a mirror and wonder how your pantyhose got so wrinkled . . . and then remember you weren't wearing any?

— Phyllis Diller

She takes herself asunder still when she goes to bed, into some twenty boxes; and about next day noon is put together again, like a great German clock.

— Ben Jonson

I don't know who would want to win it. I sure wouldn't want to win it.

— Joe Paterno, on a Joe Paterno look-alike contest staged by the student body

My girlfriend has lovely colored eyes. I particularly like the blue one.

— Harry Scott

The difference between Namath and me is that when you make the money he makes, they say you're ruggedly handsome. When you make the money I make, they say you have a big nose.

— Jim Valvano, on being told he looked like Joe Namath

Appetizers

Appetizers are little things you keep eating until you lose your appetite.

— Richard Armour

Approval

At twenty, we don't care what the world thinks of us; at thirty, we worry about what it's thinking of us; at forty, we discover it isn't thinking about us at all.

— Anonymous

Arguments

There are two sides to every argument, and they're usually married to each other.

— Anonymous

The only people who listen to both sides of a family quarrel are the next-door neighbors.

— Anonymous

There are two theories of arguing with women. Neither one works.

— Anonymous

My wife was too beautiful for words, but not for arguments.

— John Barrymore

Children are intensely invested in getting their way. They will devote more emotional and intellectual energy to winning arguments than parents ever will, and are almost always better rested.

— Jean Callahan

I've never won an argument with her; and the only times I thought I had I found out the argument wasn't over yet.

— Jimmy Carter, on wife Rosalynn

It is astonishing how articulate one can become when alone and raving at a radio. Arguments and counter arguments, rhetoric and bombast flow from one's lips like scurf from the hair of a bank manager.

— Stephen Fry

My wife and I had words – but I never got to use mine.

— Carl Gilligan

I got into an argument with my girlfriend inside a tent. A tent is not a good place for an argument. I tried to walk out on her and had to slam the flap.

— Mitch Hedberg

No matter what side of an argument you're on, you always find some people on your side that you wish were on the other side.

— Jascha Heifetz

Art

The painting [Whistler's Mother] shows this nice old lady who is waiting for the repairman to bring back her TV set.

— Anonymous, kindergartner

Can't you paint on walls like other children? Do you have any idea how hard it is to get that stuff off the ceiling?

— Michelangelo's mother

Rembrandt painted 700 pictures. Of these 3,000 are in existence.

— Wilhelm Bode

Abstract art is a product of the untalented sold by the unprincipled to the utterly bewildered.

— Al Capp

The murals in restaurants are about on a par with the food in art galleries.

— Peter DeVries

Whatever else you do, sign it. If you do that, we will know which way to hold it.

— Auguste Rodin, to Picasso regarding his latest painting

Attics

An attic is a place where you keep something for ten years and then throw it away two weeks before you need it.

— Anonymous

Auctions

Never wave to a friend at an auction.

— Anonymous

Authority

In an office the authority of a person is inversely proportional to the number of pens they are carrying.

— Anonymous

Auto Racing

Auto racing is boring except when a car is going at least 172 mph upside-down.

— Dave Barry

Driving a race car is like dancing with a chainsaw.

— Cale Yarborough

Autographs

I went to the men's room and I was standing there at the urinal and I get a tap on the shoulder and this guy's standing there with a placemat and a pen asking me for my autograph. He said he didn't want to bother me while I was having lunch.

— Vince Lombardi

Every time I sign a ball, and there have been thousands, I thank my luck that I wasn't born Coveleski, or Wambsganss or Peckinpough.

— Mel Ott

Signing autographs was fun until a kid came up to me and said, "My dad says you're getting old, you're going to die and your autograph will be valuable."

— Warren Spahn

Autumn

Autumn is the most beautiful time of the year to the person who has no leaves to rake.

— Anonymous

Babies

Sterilize: What you do to your baby's first pacifier by boiling it, and to your last baby's pacifier by blowing on it and wiping it with saliva.

— Anonymous

Out of the mouth of babes come things parents never should have said.

— Anonymous

Fill a small bag with twelve pounds of wet sand. At 8:00 p.m., begin to waltz and hum with the bag until 9:00 p.m. Lie down and get up again immediately. Sing every song you have ever heard. Fall asleep standing up, then make breakfast. Do this for five years. Look cheerful. Congratulations, you have now passed the baby night test.

— Anonymous

Two-minute warning: When your baby's face turns red and she begins to make those familiar grunting noises.

— Anonymous

How come the second baby isn't as breakable as the first?

— Anonymous

If you want to know what it's like to feed a baby, sit at the kitchen counter and carefully spoon strained peas and chocolate pudding into a plastic bag. When the bag is completely full, tie a knot to close it, place it on the kitchen counter at eye level about a foot from your face, then ask your spouse to smash the bag with a dictionary.

— Anonymous

Out of the mouths of babes comes cereal.

— Anonymous

Most people make babies out to be very complicated, but the truth is they have only three moods:

Mood one: Just about to cry.

Mood two: Crying.

Mood three: Just finished crying.

— Dave Barry

Babies do not take solid food through their mouths, which are generally occupied with other objects. Babies absorb solid food through their chins. You can save yourself a lot of frustrating effort if you smear the food directly on your baby's chin, rather than putting it in the baby's mouth and forcing the baby to expel it on to its chin, as many uninformed parents do.

— Dave Barry

In a typical magazine ad for an educational toy, a baby is looking thoughtfully (for a baby) at two pieces of plastic. According to the ad, the pieces of plastic are helping the baby acquire skills of problem solving. In fact, the only problem the baby is solving is the problem of how to get both pieces in his mouth.

— Dave Barry

Taking care of a newborn baby means devoting yourself, body and soul, 24 hours a day, seven days a week, to the welfare of someone whose major response, in the way of positive reinforcement, is to throw up on you.

— Dave Barry
